MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Results of Operations

As at June 30, 2024, CC&L Alternative Income Fund (the “Fund”) held $28.2 million in total net assets. During the period ended June 30, 2024, investors in Series A units in the Fund experienced a return of 1.60%. The benchmark for the Fund (FTSE Canada 91 Day T-Bill Index) returned 2.55% over the period. The performance of the different series within the funds will vary due to the differences in their expense structures. For specific returns by series, please refer to the “Past Performance” section of this report.

Economic divergences were apparent early in the year, as US economic data releases continued to show above-trend growth, with markets gravitating toward a “soft landing” outcome, or even a return to a period of economic strength. These developments were in contrast to Canada, where inflation releases decelerated and activity indicators pointed to slowing economic growth. However, evidence of slowing economic momentum in the US started to unfold later in the period, with downside surprises in economic releases relative to market expectations. Importantly, inflation releases were ultimately reassuring and helped to alleviate concerns of a reacceleration in inflation, although the path was not linear and led to some market volatility during the period. Central bank activity moved in favour of monetary easing, and the Bank of Canada (BoC) became the first G7 central bank to lower its target interest rate this cycle. The BoC lowered its overnight rate by 25 basis points (bps) to 4.75% for the first time since the early days of the pandemic. The US Federal Reserve (Fed) held its policy rate steady during the period. Bond yields were volatile but ended the period higher. In Canada, the yield curve broadly un-inverted, as shorter-term yields rose by less than longer-term yields. Risk sentiment was generally positive for the period, and corporate credit spreads tightened. Provincial spreads lagged the move, ending the period unchanged, as worsening provincial fiscal situations weighed on spreads.

The Fund’s performance was positive for year though underperformed the benchmark. Security selection detracted from performance driven by long positions in select US media, broadcasting, and services companies. In particular, while the whole US media space experienced volatility during the period, long positions in two issuers, E.W. Scripps Company and iHeartMedia Inc., were especially impacted. Within macro strategies, sector allocation benefited from opportunistic positioning across the credit curve. Interest rate positioning also contributed to performance, driven by duration positioning, the global relative value strategy, and a small exposure to real return bonds earlier in the period.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Leverage

Leverage occurs when the Fund borrows money or securities, or uses derivatives, to generate investment exposure that is greater than the amount invested.

The Fund's leverage is determined by calculating the aggregate exposure through the sum of following: (i) the market value of the Fund's short positions; (ii) the amount of cash borrowed for investment purposes; and (iii) the notional value of the Fund's specified derivatives positions excluding any specified derivatives used for hedging purposes. The Fund's exposure to leverage must not exceed 300% of the Fund's Net Asset Value ("NAV").

During the period ended June 30, 2024, the Fund's aggregate exposure to leverage ranged from 238.8% to 301.4% of the Fund's NAV. The aggregate exposure range to leverage was within the expected range as outlined in the simplified prospectus. As at June 30, 2024, the Fund's aggregate exposure was 243.3% of the Fund's NAV. The primary sources of leverage were short positions in fixed income securities, short positions in short-term investments, short bond futures and cash borrowing.

A component of the Fund's leverage is cash borrowing. Such facilities are repayable on demand. During the period ended June 30, 2024, the Fund's range of cash borrowing was $Nil to $6,233,466 with an average interest rate of 8.86%. As at June 30, 2024, cash borrowing represented 0.0% of the Fund's NAV.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Recent Developments

We expect the Fed to lower its target interest rate later in 2024 in response to slowing economic data. The path forward will depend on the degree to which loosening financial conditions feeds through to the economy and helps to stabilize activity. Alternatively, if easing financial conditions do not provide sufficient support, further softening in the labour market could lead to a more durable economic slowdown. We expect a recession to take hold in Canada in 2024. While we currently expect this recession to be mild, its magnitude will largely depend on the US economic backdrop. We believe ongoing macroeconomic uncertainty and potentially wide-ranging outcomes warrant portfolio risk exposures to remain relatively low.

(1) This information is provided as at June 30 or December 31 of the years shown.

(2) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding margin interest, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period

(3) The Manager of the Fund, CC&L Funds Inc., may waive certain fees or absorb certain expenses otherwise payable by the Fund. The amount of expenses waived or absorbed is determined periodically on a series by series basis at the discretion of the manager and the manager can terminate the waiver or absorption at any time.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor trades its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund.

(5) The trading expense ratio represents margin interest, borrow fees on investments sold short, total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period

MANAGEMENT AND PERFORMANCE FEES

Management Fees

The Fund is managed by CFI. As consideration for providing investment advisory and management services, CFI receives a management fee from the Fund, based on the net asset value of the respective series, calculated daily and payable monthly in arrears. In respect of units of all series of the Fund other than Series I, the management fee is paid by the Portfolio to CFI. Management fees in respect of Series I units are arranged directly and charged outside the Portfolio. Management fees on Series I units are not expenses of the Portfolio. CFI uses a portion of management fees to pay for trailing commissions to registered dealers (if applicable) based on amounts invested in the Fund. CFI uses the remaining portion of the management fees to pay for investment advice, including fees charged by the Fund's portfolio manager, and general administration expenses and retains the balance for profit. The following table summarizes the annual management fee rates (excluding GST and HST) of each series of the Fund, expressed as a percentage of the Fund's value, and the portion used for dealer compensation and the portion used for or attributed to investment advice, general administration and profit.

	Annual Rates	Dealer Compensation	As a percentage of management fees Investment advice, administration and profit
Series A	1.45%	68.97%	31.03%
Series F	0.45%	0.00%	100.00%
Series I	0.00%	0.00%	0.00%

Performance Fees

The Fund pays a quarterly performance fee to the Manager, calculated and accrued daily. The performance fee is based on the performance of a Series of the Fund relative to the performance of the Fund's hurdle and is equal to 15% of the amount by which the Fund outperforms the hurdle. The performance fee is applicable to Series A and Series F units. Unitholders of Series I units may negotiate a performance fee to be paid by the investor directly to the Manager. The FTSE Canada 91 Day T-bill Index return is the hurdle for the Fund
