Before you invest in any fund, consider how the fund would work with your other investments and your tolerance for risk.

This Fund is an alternative mutual fund. It invests in asset classes and/or uses investment strategies that are not permitted for conventional mutual funds. The specific strategies that differentiate this Fund from conventional mutual funds include increased use of derivatives for hedging and non-hedging purposes; increased ability to sell securities short; and the ability to borrow cash to use for investment purposes. While these strategies will be used in accordance with the Fund’s investment objective and strategies, during certain market conditions they may accelerate the pace at which your investment decreases in value.

This Fund has obtained exemptive relief to permit: (i) the Fund to utilize market-neutral investment strategies which include the short sale of securities with a market value of up to a maximum of 100% of its net asset value (subject to a combined limit on short selling and cash borrowing of 100% of its net asset value); and (ii) the Fund to deposit portfolio securities with a net aggregate market value of greater than 25% of its net asset value with a borrowing agent that is not the custodian or a sub-custodian of the Fund in connection with a short sale of securities. The Fund’s short selling limit is greater than the limits permitted under applicable securities legislation for conventional mutual funds as well as alternative mutual funds.

How risky is it?

The value of the Fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money. One way to gauge risk is to look at how much of a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility". In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

CC&L Funds has rated the volatility of this Fund as medium. Because this is a new fund, the risk rating is based only an estimate by CC&L Funds. Generally, the rating is based on how much the Fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the Fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the Fund's returns, see the sections on "What are the risks of investing in the Fund?", "Investment Risk Classification Methodology" and "Who should invest in this Fund?" under the "Specific Information About Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document" section of the Fund's simplified prospectus.
